Sociologists, Supervisors Parley

Gathering Discusses Professional School, Lab's Future

Highlights of the Monday meeting of a delegation from the Social Work lab and Dr. Harold Tascher, director, with the downtown agency supervisors was the mutual advocacy of an accredited professional training school on the campus to equip sociologists for Civil Service work, Tascher said yesterday.

Student representatives who attended the meeting were Fred Merritt, Helena; Jean Yardley, Livingston; Grace Jean Wheeler, Ronan; Barbara Blitz, Rapid City, S. D., and Wanda Williams, Boulder, student head of county welfare.

Downtown delegates were Joe H. Roe, Mary Alice Kittenger, Dorothy Ryan, Astha Cartmel, Emily Olson and Orline Coats.

Discussion also centered on the operating lab program, with stress on the fact that since no university budget exists for lab supervision, student social workers are dependent on downtown groups for it. Consequently, agencies supervise lab activity on the basis of mutual advantage, Tascher explained. The co-ordinating work is done by the students via a system of checks and balances.

The sociologists analyzed the lab's future and stated that the primary rule for improvement was the uplifting of the standards of student work, with emphasis on increased recognition of the value of agency supervisors and closer contact with them, Tascher continued. More frequent meetings would strengthen the bonds between them and campus sociologists and would make for better community services and results, Tascher concluded.

Nelson Names Gay Nineties Talent

Barb Prexy Promises Popular Entertainers At Costume Ball

Popular student talent will furnish the floor show entertainment for the Gay Nineties ball Saturday, Glen Nelson, Missoula, Maverick president, said last night.

The program will include barber shop harmony by Helen Lundeen, Poplar; Sue Pigot, Roundup; Doris Morley, Livingston, and Dorothy Lloyd, Butte, Theta quartet members. Fred Barrett, Missoula, will lead the independent men's quartet in song, and Ellen Jane Potter, women's physical education instructor, will direct four girls in a special dance.

Individual performers will be Margaret Morse, Anaconda; Betty Alff and Earl Dahlstrom, Missoula, and Liala Jensen, Sidney, who will accompany an exhibition waltz vocally.

Table reservations not yet taken will be placed on sale in the Student store this afternoon, Nelson said.

"Weighing In"

Five Selected as Ushers For "Vagabond King"

Five students have been "weighed in" for the opportunity to usher for "The Vagabond King," May 12, 13, 14 and 15. They are Mary Lou Robinson, Billings; Katherine Sire, Belt; Shirley Ann Kincaid, Whitefish; Sue Pigot, Roundup, and Mildred McIntyre, Worden.

Twenty-five girls will be selected as usherettes for the musicale. All are to be good-looking and preferably tall co-eds, and all will be uniformed for the three-night showing, said Art Meyer, Butte, manager of the premier.

Stage rehearsals have continued for two weeks with 70 principals and chorus members, under the direction of Larrae Haydon, dramatics director, and John Lester, music instructor. The orchestra is being directed by John Crowder, music school dean.

Helen Faulkner and Earl Dahlstrom, Missoula; Eileen Murphy, Anaconda, and Eugene Phelan, Chinook, who are cast in leading vocal roles, and the 57 chorus members have been practicing the songs for over two months under the leadership of Lester and James Huff, vocal instructor.

Monday, May 12, is the date for the matinee where grade and high school students will attend, although others may also make reservations for that showing. Premier night will be May 13, when the all-university operetta officially opens.

Wellner to Talk At Phi Sigma Meeting

Charles Wellner of the United States Forest Service will talk on "Silvicultural Methods in Management of Western White Pine" at a meeting of Phi Sigma, national biological honorary, in 307 Natural Science building at 7:30 o'clock tonight, Allen Chesbro, Raynesford, president, said yesterday.

Officers for next year will be elected after the talk, said Chesbro.

Ten Candidates Chosen For Prom Queen Title

Houses Name Faulkner, Selkirk, Wysel, Konesky, Holloway, Landreth, Johnson, Knapp, Cowell, Hayden

Ten co-eds have been selected as candidates for queen of the Junior Prom which is scheduled May 2, Frances Talcott, Nibbe, president of the junior class, said yesterday. Only senior women are eligible for the honor and the winning candidate will be selected by popular vote of the students attending the annual affair.

MacLeod Is Chief Grizzly

Colin (Scotty) MacLeod, Hardin, was elected Chief Grizzly of Bear Paw chapter of Intercollegiate Knights last night in the Bitter Root room.

Sherman Lohn, Helena, was elected Right Paw, or secretary, and Ray Wise, Great Falls, became Left Paw, or treasurer, of the organization.

Senior Class Will Meet Today

Dean Galles, Billings, senior class president, has called a meeting of the class for 4 o'clock today in the Silver room for the purpose of planning the Forty-fourth Annual Commencement week.

The class will discuss plans for a senior dinner and mixer and will select their class colors. The seniors will decide if they wish to continue the practice of having a class banner. Every class since 1898 has been represented by a class banner, said Galles.

Galles will appoint patron, reception, banner, floor and dinner committee members.

Dr. Lucia B. Mirrielees, professor of English, will assist the committee in charge of the Commencement dinner while Mrs. Harry Turney-High will assist the patrons group.

Tentative plans for Commencement week as follows: Friday, June 6, Prizes and Awards convocation; Saturday, June 7, Commencement dinner, SOS, AWS Lantern Parade and senior farewell mixer; Sunday, June 8, Baccalaureate services, and Monday, June 9, Commencement services.

The candidates, chosen by their chapters, are Helen Faulkner, Missoula, Alpha Chi Omega; Jane Selkirk, Columbus, Alpha Delta Pi; Lorraine Konesky, Great Falls, Alpha Phi; Eileen Wysel, Missoula, Delta Delta Delta; Helen Holloway, Butte, Delta Gamma; Nancy Landreth, Anchorage, Alaska, Kappa Alpha Theta; Betty Johnson, Brockway, Kappa Delta; Mary Cowell, Missoula, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Jean Knapp, Wilsall, Sigma Kappa, and Helen Hayden, Missoula, Mavericks.

Elaborate decorations are being planned by Katherine Sire, Belt, chairman of decorations committee, for the second all-school formal of the quarter.

Graduating seniors will be guests of the junior class at the Prom. Invitations will be issued by Clide Carr, Kalispell, chairman of the committee.

Pictures of the candidates will be published at a later date, said Bill Bellingham, chairman of the publicity committee.

Millar Calls Attention To Deadline

Sentinel Editor States Money for Embossing Must Be Paid

"The deadline for gold-embossed Sentinels is rapidly nearing," Walt Millar, Butte, Sentinel editor, said yesterday. No money for the embossing process will be accepted after April 30.

A few of the fraternities and sororities have signed up 100 per cent, but several are still lagging behind, the editor added. Only 15 students have signed up at the Sentinel office. Millar emphasized the fact that, by having one's name engraved on the annual, a student will receive it sooner than usual, since these books come from the printer first.

All engraving and printing copy has been sent to the printer, who is now making the first black runs. The 1941 Sentinel, a departure from previous annuals, will be distributed to seniors and those students who have their names on the yearbooks the week of June 2-6. Others will receive theirs the following week.

Students who leave school early and want their Sentinels mailed must pay a 35 cent mailing charge at the Student Union business office, said Millar.

With Germans pouring through Thermopylae pass, the fall of Athens and entire Greece looks certain, morning dispatches asserted. Nazi troops are reported only 35 miles from Athens, and 250,000 Greeks have surrendered. Britain's forces, frantically fleeing the country, were dive-bombed in all southern Greek ports—shipping losses totaled 152,000 tons, bulletins said. Allied troops are still north of Athens, but are apparently rear guard units to cover retreat.

WASHINGTON.—The navy may extend its patrol up to 1,000 miles—half way to Britain—on route of supply ships, it was indicated today. This was interpreted here as meaning British and Canadian convoys on this side of the Atlantic will likely be abandoned.

LONDON.—Through the gloom of the Balkan disaster, the English were cheered with news that nearly 1,000 American and Canadian planes had been added to RAF and more were on the way.

LONDON.—It was rumored today that Germany has demanded military control of the Bosphorus and Dardanelles from Turkey.

WOULD MORE SIDEWALKS HELP THE GRASS SITUATION?

In most groups there are a few who will rebel and intentionally break rules, not because they feel the laws unjust, but because it is their innate urge to revolt against regimentation. In most law enforcing bodies there are a few who are none too modest and diplomatic in executing their duties. And as a result of this, friction and enmities arise as they have in the current "grass cutting" feud.

Maybe the wrong approach has been used in this problem. There will always be students in a hurry—slow ones starting too late, quick ones continually rushing. They will cut corners to save a minute—unless something stops them. Now Spurs cannot stand at every corner all day long to watch for them. But a shrub can. On the corners where the hurriers scurry across, why not transplant a few shrubs from the nursery?

Across lawns where students persistently travel, lay a cement sidewalk and have a natural pattern of walks webbing the campus as at the University of Washington. Concrete is not beautiful, but neither are foot-beaten lawns. It is costly but so is grass seed and maintenance. It may be worthwhile to give this idea a thought.—R. P.

Spriggs, Isabel McClintock Head Point Winners

One Hundred Eleven Students Earn Awards;
Dorothy Ziesing Ranks Third; Mike O'Connell,
Helen Boatwright Tie for Fourth

Edison Spriggs, Kalispell, set designer and stage manager for "The Merchant of Yonkers" and "Idiot's Delight" and actor in "Idiot's Delight," and Isabel McClintock, Brady, script girl for both productions, were awarded 38 points each and top rating in the list of Masquer point winners released recently by Effiellen Jeffries, Missoula, Masquer president.

One hundred eleven students earned 1,008 points by working on the winter and spring quarter major productions. Dorothy Ziesing, Missoula, trailed the leaders with 27 points. Helen Boatwright, Missoula, and Mike O'Connell, Butte, followed with 25 points each. Judith Hurley, Lewistown, won 24 points.

Butte, guest of Marguerite Poore, and Dr. and Mrs. G. D. Shallenberger, guests of Mrs. Rossi Schweitzer.

Mary Doherty, Elliston, left North hall to visit at home last week-end.

Eight Seniors Will Take Honors Tests

Eight business administration seniors will take honor examinations at 9 o'clock Saturday, Dean Robert C. Line, professor of business administration, announced yesterday.

Those who will take them are Albert Angstman, Helena; Walter Stanton Halverson, Scobey; O. Ronald Larson, Maddock, N. D.; Virgil McNabb, Terry; Isabel A. Parsons, Helena; George G. Ryffel, Belt; Billy Shipman, Hendersonville, N. C., and Elfriede Zeeck, Somers.

Honor examinations are given each year to seniors who are qualified to graduate "with honors" in their departments. In order to take the examination, a student must have a scholastic index of 2.00 or better. This year's group is believed to be the largest ever to take the business administration honor exam.

Ames Works To Evaluate Corvallis High

W. R. Ames, professor of education, spent Monday afternoon and all day Tuesday at Corvallis working in co-operation with a committee to evaluate the work of Corvallis High school.

The evaluation was made under the direction of the Northwest Accrediting association. It consisted of a very thorough study of the school's operation, such as the general philosophy of the school, administration, teaching staff and quality of instruction and the condition of the school plant.

Ames was chairman of the committee to evaluate the school guidance program. Recommendations were made by the general committee for possible improvement of the school.

Two Fliers Complete Basic Work

Myron H. Keilman, '40, and Wesley C. Sloulin, ex-'42, recently completed the 10-week basic flight training program at Randolph Field, Texas, and will start their final stage of becoming Army Air Corps officers at an advanced flight training school tomorrow.

With 10 weeks still to go, the two fliers have logged 140 flying hours. The first 10 weeks of their training was spent in elementary flight training and piloting. Sixty-five hours were logged in a 200-horsepower biplane, half of it solo.

The second 10-week phase which they have just completed was made in powerful, low-winged monoplanes. Night flying, aerial acrobatics, cross-country, instrument and formation flying has given them an additional 75 hours in the air. Ten weeks from now Keilman and Sloulin will receive commissions as second lieutenants in the Army Air corps.

Air Forum Discusses Fine Arts

Four Review History,
Progress, Objectives
Of Department

Four fine arts majors entertained radio audiences with a discussion of the visual arts at last night's Campus Congress broadcast. Norma Wheatley, Dixon; Don Bradeen and Bob Bartholomew, Missoula, and Walter Hook, Milltown, under the chairmanship of Eileen Deegan, Missoula, reviewed the history, progress and aims of the fine arts department, the courses taught and techniques used by each individual artist in expressing the particular emotion or scene he wishes to retain.

Started in 1890

Started in 1896 by Eloise Knowles, this department has progressed from an experiment to a popular major. Miss Wheatley, in her historical sketch of the department, revealed the unusual fact that in 1896 all students enrolled in the university were required to take a course in free-hand drawing.

Another forward step, as pointed out by this student broadcast, was the physical progress which included moving from Main hall basement to a Main hall third-floor position and finally to a modern building which houses a $6,000 Carnegie art set, famous exhibits and valuable slides, including 100 colored slides.

Important Feature

Art exhibits are one of the most important features of the department, the forum reported, in that they bring people to art and art to people. During Interscholastic week 15 high schools in the state will each exhibit 10 pieces of original work.

In conclusion, Walter Hook described the mural which he is now doing. An employee of the Bonner lumber mills for several years, Hook is painting on a scale larger than usual, the activities in a lumber mill. He explained that in order to bring out details in the composition, he employs the use of a large mirror in which the mural is seen upside down.

The GRIZZLY PARADE

• By BILL SWARTZ

After the heckling that certain individuals received at High Court on Aber day, I am inclined to think that this column could get away with almost anything. However, I'll refrain and just bring up a few personalities in the sport circle. By this time whisky-sour memories should be fading and the dogs should have quit barking.

Behind the teamwork of all the squads in sports, Greek, independent, minor or varsity, may be seen the funny little characteristics of the star or the greenhorn. Sometimes it takes quite a little observation to detect these manifestations of inner turmoil, or nervousness, if you prefer.

Down on the bowling alleys where I used to spend a lot of time, I have noticed certain peculiarities. For instance, when Chuck Boyle of the Phi Sigs rolls that fairly straight ball down the alley, he backs up a couple of steps with his hands at his sides, watching the ball all the time. As the mineralite nears the headpin, Chuck's fingers begin to twitch and often he uses what is commonly called "body English" in order to get a strike. The further away from the headpin that ball goes, the more English Chuck uses. There is only one more session in the Interfraternity league, so if you want to see Chuck's remote control, you'd better hurry.

Lew Moore and Jack Turner throw the prize screwballs in bowling. Moore's are beginning to straighten out, but Turner's breaks as much as two feet yet. It must be effective, judging from the average of Mr. Turner.

I don't know who rolls the fastest ball in the league. From the bench I would say that it's a toss-up between Jiggs Marcus, Benny Stephens, Jack Snyder and possibly Bob Sykes. A fast ball doesn't necessarily mean a good bowler, but there is some consolation in the fact that not much time is wasted in getting the ball down the hardwood.

The expression on a bowler's face in one instance is a general one of disgust. That is when the bowler gets a pocket hit which turns out to be a 4-7-10 split.

Enough of bowling. Let's consider baseball, a great sport and a strange sport. I sometimes think that more psychology than good baseball is wound up in these Interfraternity games. The pitcher has all the advantage at the beginning of the none-too-long season. The batters usually swing late, and most of them are afraid, anyhow. The catcher gives a signal and Bryan, Marcus, Schaertl, Schulte, Morgan or some other pitcher nods his head and puts the ball down the groove. The umpire calls it a strike, or maybe a strikeout, just like that.

The beanball is used to good effect by most pitchers. The idea is to dust off the batter with a close one (don't hit him; that's a walk) and then groove three for strikes before he gets his nerve back.

Heckling is an essential of baseball. It is an institution. Its value, however, in the Interfraternity league is questionable, because no one is outstanding as a heckler. Stock phrases include "Glass arm," "He's got a higher and/or a lower one," "Here comes that airplane ball," and anything else which seems appropriate.

Out on the track field there are peculiarities and phobias of individuals. Schendel stopped at 12 feet in the pole vault for a long time. Last week in the Cheney meet he nearly went out at 10 feet, but he topped that and also 12 feet. When Gene Clawson wound up that long arm of his for that record throw, he was just a little more relaxed than the time before. Ryffel's

Track Squad Will Invade Cougars' Lair

Montana Cindermen To Meet Washington State College

The Grizzly track squad will embark tomorrow morning for Pullman where they will tangle Saturday with the powerful Washington State Cougars, the same team that downed University of Idaho, 91 to 40, last week.

Handicapped by injuries, graduation of veterans and unexpected loss of men to the services of the United States, the compact band of Grizzlies will enter the meet definitely the underdog but are expected to come through with wins in several events.

The Cougars, Northern division champs eight times in the last nine years, this year boast two cinder men, Pat Haley and Bill Dale, who were members of the National Canadian team. Haley specializes in the sprints and hurdles and Dale shines in the middle distances and is co-holder of the best meet record.

explosion in the shot was just a little weak—just short of a new record. Perhaps it's timing, training and co-ordination that do it, but psychology is in there pitching just like Mr. Coffee Nerves. At the next track meet, see if you can discover in personalities those characteristics.

Rowe Plans Track Meet Publicity For Pix Magazine

Th publication of Greg Rice's pictures with an accompanying writeup in Look magazine has inspired Dr. J. P. Rowe, chairman of Interscholastic, to arrange for a collection of information and photos of the Missoula track meet for publication in one of the popular picture magazines.

Interscholastic this year has gained national prominence, with such outstanding track performers as Rice, Trutt and Garner scheduled to star in the highlighting attraction of the meet, Rowe said.

John Campbell, university publicity assistant, is preparing copy and will send out pictures and information concerning the meet and aspects of the two-mile feature race. An increased attendance, if weather conditions permit, seems certain this year, Rowe concluded.

ord established in the Northern Division. Other outstanding Cougars are Jim Lang, half-miler, and Knowle Williams, miler.

The Grizzly lineup will include Bill Murphy and Carl Fiske in the century; Earl Fairbanks, furlong; Fairbanks, Al Cullen, 440-yard dash; Ole Ueland, Ed Murphy, 880-yard run; Bill Adam, mile and two-mile; Chet Schendel and Johnny Stewart, pole vault; Harry Hesser, Joe Taylor, high jump; Phil Yovetich, Andy Ferko, Fiske, broad jump; George Ryffel, Lloyd McDowell, shot put; Gene Clawson, McDowell, discus; Fritz Kreiger, javelin, and Yovetich, hurdles.

ROWE GETS ENTRIES

Entry lists for three schools have been received so far by Dr. J. P. Rowe, Interscholastic chairman, who said that most of the entries are expected to arrive early in May.

NOTICE

WAA will not meet tonight.

Three-Inning Ball Game Nets PSK 5-1 Victory

Phi Sigma Kappa defeated Sigma Phi Epsilon baseballers yesterday, 5-1, in a ball game called at the end of the third inning on account of rain.

Doubles by Phi Sigs Borek and Ferris and a single by "Goldy" Goldstein, their hurler, counted two runs in the first inning. Hits by Blair and Wallin, a base on balls and an error gave the Phi Sigs three more in the second.

Sigma Phi Epsilon's lone tally came in the second by virtue of an error and Sanderson's double.

We Feel Bad about Violets

POETS always call the violet the shrinking violet. We feel bad about anything that shrinks—but chiefly shirts.

So we've spent our life making the shirt that doesn't shrink, the ARROW shirt. It's Sanforized Shrunk, which means fabric shrinkage less than 1%. Its Mitoga figure fit is superb and its collar is the world's finest. College men everywhere prefer Arrows. Try an Arrow Gordon today.

ARROW SHIRTS

COLLARS . . . TIES . . . HANDKERCHIEFS . . . UNDERWEAR

THE ARROW QUARTET

offers you more than harmony

ARROW SHIRTS, ties, handkerchiefs and shorts are styled in fabrics that go together perfectly. Added to this eye-pleasing quality are these points:

Arrow Ties are tailored of superfine fabrics; are perfect knotting, wrinkle-resistant. $1.00 and $1.50

Arrow Shirts, have the trim, comfortable "Mitoga" figure-fit design. They have the one-and-only Arrow collar, in many styles. Sanforized-Shrunk (fabric shrinkage less than 1%). White, patterns, and colors. . . . . $2 up

Arrow Handkerchiefs add a final dress-up touch. White, and colors. . . . . 25c up

Arrow Shorts, most comfortable in the world, have no seam to irritate the crotch. They have Gripper snap-fasteners—they're Sanforized-Shrunk. 65c

Tour Starts Saturday For Forestry Seniors

Thirty-eight Are Preparing for Western Trip; Two Groups Will Travel 6,663 Miles to Visit, Study in Six States

Thirty-eight forestry seniors and four instructors will board buses at 7 o'clock Saturday morning for their annual spring trip into the Western states. Students specializing in forest utilization will go west into Idaho, Washington, Oregon and California, while students majoring in range management will go south into Utah, Nevada and Arizona.

T. C. Spaulding, dean of the forestry school, and C. W. Bloom, assistant professor of forestry, will lead the group taking the western tour while Melvin C. Morris, associate professor of forestry, and Dr. Fred A. Barkley, instructor in botany, will accompany the southern excursion. Both groups are scheduled to return to Missoula May 17.

Trips Will Be Long

Travelers on the western trip will ride approximately 3,215 miles while the approximate mileage of the southern jaunt is 3,448 miles.

Lommasson To Substitute For Morris

Tom Lommasson, '30, of the forest service regional office in charge of range surveys, will take over some of the classes of Melvin S. Morris, associate professor of forestry, while Morris is traveling with the forestry school spring trip.

"Lommasson graduated from our forestry school in 1930," Morris said yesterday. "He is one of the leading men of the nation in forest surveys. He will give the classes in range management a series of lectures on range surveys and general management. This will give the classes an opportunity to obtain first-hand information on this phase of land evaluation."

MSU is 46 years old this year, being opened in 1895.

Next Year's Editors

Central board yesterday approved Publications board's recommendation that Bill Bellingham, Cascade (left), be Kaimin editor next year and that George Luening, Gardiner (right), edit the 1942 Sentinel.

Board Approves Publications' Appointments

Central board yesterday approved Publications board's appointment recommendations to that body. George Luening, Gardiner, will edit the Sentinel, university restore the business manager to that publication was received unfavorably by the governing group. Members will write a letter to Luening stating their views on the matter. Previous to last year, a Sentinel business manager was appointed by Publications board. Last Year's Sentinel editor, Ray Hower-ton, suggested that the business managership be abolished.

May 5 Set For 1-D Exams

Physically Fit to Fill Early Quota; Fifty Are Affected

Fifty university students who have already filled out Selective Service questionnaires and have been given a classification of 1-D, will be examined Monday, May 5, in the men's gym, Chairman Arthur L. Quinn of the Missoula draft board stated yesterday.

Those who are found physically fit will be taken out of their present 1-D class, which granted deferment until the completion of their current school year, and placed in class 1-A. Those who are given this classification will be eligible for the first quotas coming after the end of the school year.

Five forestry seniors who will be away on their annual western trip were examined this morning.

Sociologists Write Letter to RCIA

Cecil Smith, Helena, head of the Ravalli County Research project of the Social Work lab, and Dr. Harold Tascher, lab director, have written the first administrative letter to Ed L. Reed, vice-president of the Ravalli County Improvement association.

The letter outlines the history of the lab's research project, its techniques, its tie-up with the rest of the lab and its ambition to act as a guidance body for the RCIA. Future letters, which will follow in logical sequence, will contain suggestions for county planning and for the alleviation of problems which the Ravalli organization, if it so desires, may refer to the proper county committees for action.

John Saldin

annual; William Bellingham, Cascade, the Kaimin, campus newspaper, and Ann Clements, Helena, will head the staff of Sluice Box, literary magazine.

John Saldin and Virginia Gisborne, both of Missoula, will assume the duties of business manager of the Kaimin and Sluice Box respectively.

Upon the recommendation of Ray Ryan, Big Timber, chairman of the "Know Your University" movement, the campus legislature voted to reimburse Bob Fisher, Chicago, for expenses incurred during his recent good will tour to Butte, Helena and Anaconda. The sum, not to exceed $15, will come from the travel fund.

NYA's Get Survey Forms

Wanda Williams, Boulder, head of the NYA unit of the Social Work lab, and Bette Hoppe, Missoula, have distributed NYA survey forms, which are polling youth's opinion of its role in extending the national defense program, to NYA workers on the campus, in high school and those not in school, Dr. Harold Tascher, lab director, said yesterday.

Members of the social problems class will also be asked to fill out the forms, and, in addition, 50 copies of the survey were given to Ruth McCullough, recreational director of the Florence Crittenden home, Helena, who was a recent visitor here.
